All Clubs in Rotary Have Same Objective

Rotary International clubs are all working toward the same objective - to help the world. This is the purpose of the organization, which was founded in 1905. The clubs are made up of business and professional men who meet regularly to discuss and plan projects for their communities. The clubs are also involved in international relations and humanitarian work.

Singing Before Meal Is Old Rotary Custom

Rotary clubs have a long tradition of singing before meals. This custom is a remnant of the early days of the organization, when members would gather around a table and sing to each other. It is a time of fellowship and camaraderie. Many clubs still practice this custom today, and it is a cherished part of their meetings.

All Club Members Are Involved in Planning Anniversary Event

The planning for the 50th anniversary event is a joint effort of all club members. From the selection of the date to the choice of the venue, every detail is being handled by the members themselves. This is a testament to the club's unity and the members' dedication to the organization's success.

Late W. J. Sanders Jr. Was District Governor

The late William J. (Bill) Sanders Jr. of Tullahoma was a charter member of the Tullahoma Rotary Club, a former president and one of three Tullahomans elected as district governor in the club's 50-year history.

He was a businessman and headed four Masonic groups when he died in 1961.

Mr. Sanders was general manager-treasurer of Builders Supply Co., served as grand master of the Tennessee Grand Lodge, Free and Accepted Masons, and served as grand high priest of the Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons of Tennessee; worthy grand patron of the Order of the Eastern Star of Tennessee and grand commander of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar of Tennessee.

His service to the Tullahoma Rotary Club and to Rotarian principles in general, was long and active. A son, W. J. Sanders III, is an active member of the club, and has served as president.

The late Mr. Sanders was also a former Tullahoma alderman, serving two terms from 1953 to 1957, and was a trustee of St. Methodist Church.

A native of Rutherford County, he moved to Tullahoma in 1912 as an employe of Henry King & Co., a wholesale grocery firm, and joined Builders Supply Co. in 1920. In addition to serving as general manager and treasurer, he was a director of the corporation.

At the time of Mr. Sanders' death, president of the club was W. H. (Bill) Hawker-Smith, who later became district governor. Other officers at the time were Jack Thomas, vice president; Bob Couch, treasurer; Tom Ballou, secretary; and Paul Smotherman, assistant secretary.

John C. Braselt is the current district governor.

Rotarians Are Long-Time Backers of Scout Projects

If any credit is to be given for promoting Boy Scout programs throughout the Middle Tennessee area, and resulting in general, a large part of it must be handed to the Tullahoma Rotary Club.

The club's participation in Boy Scout activity goes back a long way—28 years, as a matter of fact.

The 48-member club sponsors Scout Troop 112, which was formed in 1944 as the first troop in Tullahoma.

The club also sponsors Explorer Post 112 which was formed several years after Troop 112.

But even after 10 years, in 1954, scouting in Middle Tennessee was on a small scale.

At that time, Scout Troops in the area were part of the Midstate Boy Scout Council, comprising Davidson County and five outlying counties.

The need for an expansion program in Middle Tennessee in this area was realized by the Tullahoma Rotarians Charles E. (Chuck) Parish, Clifton R. Lewis and the late D. W. Wilson spearheaded a campaign which was to lay the groundwork for expansion of the Scout program.

After five years of hard work, a new council was created and included Coffee, Maury, Bedford, Marshall, White, Warren and Williamson Counties. It was called the Seven-County Council of Southern Tennessee.

However, Mr. Parish, who was elected the group's first president, had another name for the new council. "We actually formed an 'outlaw council,'" he recalls.

As more and more boys joined the scouting program in facilities also were expanded. Mr. Parish helped organize Camp Arrowhead, on the upper Calfkiller River in White County, for use by the Scouts.

The 'outlaw' council was later taken into the Middle Tennessee Council. But by 1949, when the expansion program was completed, the Midstate Council blanketed Middle Tennessee, north and south of Nashville.

To assure proper administrative organization, potential sponsoring organizations contacted by the 'outlaws' were asked to form separate districts. This resulted in the first group organized having 19 county districts.

Since 1949, Scout districts had to be re-designated due to the expanded Scout activities. Coffee County District was re-designated Elk River District and was composed of Coffee, Moore, Bedford and Grundy Counties. A total of 39 counties now comprise the Middle Tennessee Council.

Highest Award Mr. Parish was presented with the Silver Beaver award, the highest award given by the Middle Tennessee Boy Scout Council, for his efforts in the expansion program.

Mr. Parish, president and board chairman of Lannom Manufacturing Co., figures about prominently in other facets of the Scout movement. He is one of two National Boy Scout Council representatives from Middle Tennessee and has worked in the expansion program for the Fifth Region, which includes Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas, Alabama and Tennessee. He was the first vice president of the Middle Tennessee Council elected, and has served for 17 terms. He also was chairman of the Coffee District for four consecutive years.

Mr. Parish, who is currently a vice president of the Middle Tennessee Council, is also a past president. As a member of the campsite committee of the Midstate Council, he helped establish the present Camp Boxwell at Rock Island.

At present, Mr. Parish is a vice chairman of the Middle Tennessee Council's 'development program' to seek $4½ million for improvements and additions at the Boxwell reservation and the building of two additional camps, including a wilderness-type camp at Rock Island and a year-round canoe base.

The late J. B. Wilson was the first Scoutmaster of Troop 112. J. B. was the brother of D. W. Wilson, who was a prominent figure in activities of the troop during the late 30's and early 40's.

The current Scoutmaster is John Cable, an aerospace engineer at the Von Karman Facility at Arnold Center. He has held the post for the past two years. The troop, which now numbers 26 Scouts, has its own Scout Hall, located on Cedar Lane. When the troop was first organized, it met in the Ella Ransom building which had been provided by the Board of Mayor and Aldermen.

The Explorers' Post, for boys 11 and older, is headed by Robert Payne, post advisor. Kent Ervin is assistant advisor.

Administrative details connected with sponsorship of the Troop are handled by the Rotary Club Troop Committee, headed by Steve Ennis, vice president and general manager of the Coca-Cola Bottling Works of Tullahoma. Other committee members are John Parish and Jesse H. Heald Jr.

"Training Ground" The Boy Scout movement has been described as a training ground for those ideals which are set out in the Rotary motto and the "Four-Way" test.

Mr. Parish points out the development of individual initiative and the constructive escape from regimentation in the Scouting program.

"Practically every activity of a boy from nine to 12 years old is regimented with the exception of Scouting," he said. "Scouting provides an opportunity for individual initiative and independent ambition. It teaches him the greatest virtues of Americanism—initiative and resourcefulness."

He adds, "A Scout sets his own mark—and like the traditional American frontiersman, he is always an individualist and stands on his own mark. Scouting is a great moral teacher, and is colorful enough to interest the boy with a fine moral code, absorbed as he goes along with his Scouting activities."

CLUB'S FIRST DISTRICT GOVERNOR — The late W. J. (Bill) Sanders Jr. was the first member of Tullahoma Rotary Club to serve as governor of District 678 of Rotary International. He was a charter member of Tullahoma Rotary Club, serving as its first secretary. He was elected president of the club for the 1932-33 club year, and was district governor for the 1951-52 club year.

Tullahomans Join in Honoring Hodges

On Oct. 30, 1967, a delegation of 10 Tullahoma Rotarians joined some 1200 others in Nashville for a regional dinner honoring Luther H. Hodges, president of Rotary International.

It was the largest gathering of Rotarians ever assembled in Tennessee. Rotarians came from six states and three foreign countries to honor Mr. Hodges, former governor of North Carolina and former U. S. Secretary of Commerce under Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

Mr. Hodges was introduced by Charles H. Miller of Knoxville, an international director.

20 January, 1972

Dear fellow Rotarians:
 Hearty greetings to all as your club celebrates its golden anniversary. A half century of "Service Above Self" is a very significant achievement.

The Rotary Club of Tullahoma has reason to be proud of its splendid activities in Rotary throughout the past 50 years, and I extend congratulations to your entire club.

When your club was organized in 1922, there were 1,088 Rotary clubs in 26 countries. Today there are 15,053 clubs in 149 countries and geographical areas—tremendous growth in membership and a corresponding increase in worthwhile undertakings, and I trust that this 50th anniversary milestone will be a springboard toward even greater service in your club in the future.

"Good Will Begins with You" is the theme of this Rotary year, and I feel confident that with you and all other Rotarians giving emphasis to it, together we can foster understanding both at home and abroad and contribute toward world peace.

Best wishes for continued success.
